To Editor/ Assignment editor,

The Law Society of Hong Kong is deeply concerned and disturbed by the open defiance of court injunctions by certain quarters of the Hong Kong community.

Whilst we do not intend to go into the legal technicalities of the effects of the court injunctions nor to speculate on the possible sanctions for not complying with the same, we consider that the rule of law and the independence of the judiciary have always been regarded by all Hong Kong people to form the backbone of our society. We have all claimed to be strenuous guardians of such core values.

Any non-compliance with the court orders is seriously threatening our judicial system and undermining our core values

For media enquiry, please contact Ms Rachel So at 2846 0520 or Ms Kelly Chan at 2846 0589 or by email (adceam@hklawsoc.org.hk).

About the Law Society of Hong Kong

The Law Society of Hong Kong is a professional body of solicitors in Hong Kong vested with the statutory powers to regulate the professional conduct of solicitors. It establishes and promotes professional standards and the solicitors' code of conduct and practice and ensures its compliance. The Law Society assists its members to promote Hong Kong legal services and offers its views from time to time on legal issues that are of public concern.
